

Application State

Central state can be the bottle neck on application scalability.

- Try to keep services stateless.
- Determine the types of state needed for the application.
- What is the best way to manage state in your application?